heatre last evening. Mrs. Allen's Suan was a good piece of acting. This ady has fine dramatic talent, but there trance. a timid backwardness, or bashfulness which is much to her disadvantage. We ash she could get over it. Mr. HAMILon, as William, acquitted himself with redit. He has a good conception of the haracter, and plays it well. We have o room to speak of the company in deail, but from time to time we shall acnaint the public of the merits and deperits of one and all. We are always willing to praise (when it is deserved) et not afraid to blame." The bill for penght is "His Last Legs," and the Soldier's Return." On Thursday eveng Mr. HARRY EVERETT has a benefit. here is not a more deserving man in ny profession than Mr. EVERETT, and we ope to see the house crowded on the ocsion of his benefit.

Few persons are aware of the great rivation and suffering which prevail nong our poor. We are informed by g. Fowler, the State Comptroller, that me two hundred families obtain relief his office, and probably the number of supper. ose who apply for relief to the County idge is much larger.

The Rebel Ordnance Department in Knoxville, Tenn.

The Knoxville correspondent of the Mobile Advertiser and Register, under date of the 25th ult., says of the ordnance department in Knoxville:

I visited yesterday the foundry, armory, magazine, workshops and warehouses of the ordnance department here, and was astonished to find them so extensive. This department is one of the most important in the service, and requires great military knowledge and experience in its administration. The de-partment at this post has fitted out thousands of men with all its different departments, and has been conducted We find after a few months experience, with the greatest ability by chief of that it is impossible to collect the small ordnance, Major S. H. Reynolds, who, in the discharge of his ardnous duties, has won universal esteem and popularity.

A Frank Admission.

Billy Ross is a great temperance lecturer, and at Rushville, Illinois, was preaching to the young on his favorite theme. He said :

"Now, boys, when I ask you a question you must not be afraid to speak right out and answer me. When you look around and see all these five houses, farms and cattle, do you ever think who owns them now? Your fathers own them, do they not?"

"Yes, sir!" shouted a hundred voices. "Well, where will your fathers be in twenty years from now?

"Dead !" shouled the boys. "That's right. And who will own all this property then ?"

Us boys!" shouted the urchins. "Right Now tell me-did you ever, in going the streets, notice the drunkards lounging around the saloon doors, waiting for somebody to treat them?" Yes, sir, lots of them !"

"Well, where will they be twenty years from now?" Dead !" exclaimed the boys.

"And who will be the drunkards

Billy was thunderstruck for a moment; but recovering himself, tried to tell the boys how to escape such a fate.

THE KING AND THE SOLDIER .- Frederick of Prussia had a great mania for enlisting gigantic soldiers into the royal guards, and paid an enormous bounty to his recruiting officers for getting them. One day the recruiting sergeant chanced to espy a Hibernian who was at least seven feet high. He accosted him in Kinglish, and proposed that he should enlist. The idea of a military life and a large bounty so delighted Patrick that he immediately consented, "But, unless you can speak German, the King will not sald the Irishman, "sure it's I that don't know a word of German." "But," said the sergeant, "three words will be sufficient, and these you can learn in a short time. The King knows every man in the Guards. As soon as he sees you he will ride up and ask you how old you are; you will say 'twenty-seven;' next, how long you have been in the service? you must reply, 'three weeks ;' finally, if you are provided with clothes and rations ? you must answer both." Pat soon learned to pronounce his answesr, tions. In three weeks he appeared before the king in review. His Majesty rode up to him. Paddy stepped forward with "present arms." "How old are you?" said the King. "Three weeks," said the Irishman. "How long have "Both," replied Patrick, who was instantly taken to the guard room, but pardoned by the King after he understood the facts of the case

MONEY MARKET.

Monday Nov. 17.

RECEIBLES. - Monetary affairs have been some RECURENCE.—Mondary affairs have been somewhat brisher since our last weekly review, but there is little change to note in rates. The bankers buy gold at 28 000 Ps cent premium, and sell at 127 003 Pg cent. The buying rate for silver is 22 002 Ps cent. premium, and the selling price 20 002 7 event. Demand notes are ready of sale at 24 per cent premium, Eastern Exchange is in better demand at 3 fg cent discount buying, and part to 1 fg cent premium selling. There is a good demand for the notes of the Union, Planters, and State Bank of Tennessee, at far lower rates of discount. The small notes known for lower rates of discount. The small notes known as pasting-stampeour very are sold at 12 for 5 cent promium by some of our brokers. Business generally is dull. The weather is unusually warm for the senson, with a light rain has night.
